INCREASED APPROPRIATION NEEDED

As the time for the convening of the Nebraska legislature approaches, interest increases in proposed legislation and prospective appropriations. The Herald believes in strict economy in the expenditure of public funds. Appropriations should be reduced as much as possible, consistent with efficient administration. The name of every state employe whose service is not needed should be taken off the pay roll, and every other needless expense ought to be cut out. But for all that there is such a thing as being "penny wise and pound foolish" in public affairs as well as in private business.

The above is written as an introduction to a very important matter which we wish at this time to bring to the attention of Herald readers. The work done under the direction of the state live stock sanitary board concerns, not a small portion only of the people, but practically the entire population of the state. Nebraska is a farming and ranching commonwealth, and as such the protection of live stock from contagious and infectious diseases is of vital importance. As the commercial interests of the state depend very largely upon the prosperity of those engaged in live stock raising, either as ranchmen, farmers or dairymen, business men should also take an interest in this proposition.

The legislature of 1913 appropriated $30,000 to be used under direction of the state live stock sanitary board, or as much thereof as might be needed for the prosecution of their work during the two years for which the appropriation was made. This is at the rate of $15,000 per year, a meagre sum considering the amount of work to be accomplished. We believe The Herald voices the opinion of every man who has given the matter careful attention when we say that the value to the state as a whole exceeds, by several times at least, the amount appropriated.

While the state live stock sanitary board has done well with the amount appropriated for their use, there has been constant danger of emergencies arising that would cripple the board in its work with the appropriation limited to $30,000 for the biennium. With the means of prevention and stamping out of contagious diseases inadequate, an epidemic among the live stock of the state would soon wipe out enough property value to mount not only into thousands of dollars but into the hundreds of thousands.

A larger appropriation ought to be made for the work of the state live stock sanitary board, in order that the scope of its work may be enlarged and possible emergencies met without unnecessary loss. The appropriation ought to be at least doubled for that purpose. If the entire amount should not be needed, the surplus will remain in the treasury; but to put this work on a safe and most efficient basis, the appropriation should be not less than $60,000 for the next two years. Now is the time for persons who are interested in this matter to bestir themselves.

There will probably be some members of the incoming legislature who will wish to make a record as "watch dogs of the treasury," and for that reason oppose an increase in this appropriation. The Herald has no criticism to offer upon legislators for trying to protect taxpayers from a needless burden of taxation, but this ought not to be done by needlessly crippling an important arm of the public service. It seems that some political sinecures may be found, some offices or expenses that can be eliminated without detriment, and thus a saving made sufficient to cover the increase in appropriations for those departments of the state administration needing more money to increase or insure efficiency.

Legislators usually defer to the wishes of their constituents. We recommend that readers of this paper who are interested in this important matter write the state senators and representatives from their respective districts requesting that they work and vote for an appropriation of $60,000 for the work of the state live stock sanitary board for 1915 and 1916. Do it now. If you wish to help this matter along, a word now may be worth more than a good many words after the legislature shall have convened. And while you are writing it will not be amiss to drop the governor a line, expressing your views and wishes.

APPEALING TO THE PEOPLE

In this issue of The Herald will be found the first of a series of railroad advertisements, printed in the form of reading notices, the object of which is to show the public the need of an increase in transportation rates. Without entering into a discussion now of the question at issue, we wish to commend the course pursued by the railroad officials in putting the proposition before the people.

The Herald was one of the Nebraska newspapers that strongly advocated direct legislation before it was adopted in this state. We have not lost faith in the measure. The people, as a whole, are disposed to be fair. They, the common people, have the ability to pass upon public issues when properly informed; but it is of the greatest importance that they do not render their decisions in ignorance of what is at stake. Every voter ought to make diligent effort to be informed upon all questions which he has been given a legal right to help decide.

The railroads are presenting their side of the rate issue. They have a right to be heard by those who, directly or indirectly, are to render a decision in the matter. We hope that every person who reads The Herald will peruse the above mentioned articles as they are published.

CHRISTMAS GREETING

Tomorrow will be Christmas day. Paraphrasing The Commoner's annual greeting to its thousands of readers, The Herald "wishes a merry Christmas and a happy New Year to everyone, everywhere and forever."

Xmas Tree at Berea

A Christmas tree entertainment will be given this evening in the school house at Berea by the union Sunday school of that place. A generous treat has been provided, consisting of nuts, candies and apples. The Sunday school has an enrollment of about forty. L. M. Hawkins is superintendent; O. L. Harris, assistant supt.; and Ralph Harris, secretary-treasurer.

Reception Committee

In addition to the committee appointed by the county commissioners for the opening of the new court house Monday afternoon President Guthrie announces the following committee from the Commercial Club to co-operate in this matter: R. M. Hampton, F. M. Knight, A. D. Rodgers, T. J. O'Keefe, J. E. Tash, John Snoddy, C. A. Newberry, E. H. Boyd, J. H. Vaughan, E. Cook, Jerry Rowan.

Gave Entertainment at Hemingford

Tressa and George Vandervoort gave their first musical and reading recital at Hemingford on Tuesday evening. Unfortunately the town has been having overmuch of that kind of entertainments lately, with the result that the attendance was small; but the program was nicely rendered and those present were pleased with it.

With a dearth of potash reported in this country, Perlmutter will have to go it alone next year.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT SOUTH OMAHA

Market For Beeves Rules Higher on Meager Receipts.

BULK OF HOGS SHADE EASIER.

Light Run of Sheep and Lambs. Meets Slow Sale—Trade Uneven, With Prices Generally 10 to 15 Cents Higher—Cattle in Good Demand.

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Dec. 22.—Christmas week opens out with a very light run of cattle, about 1,700 head arriving yesterday. Sharply decreased receipts of cornfed cattle were responsible for sharply stronger prices all along the line, the bulk of the very limited beef offerings selling readily at prices that were all of 15 to 25c higher than the close of last week. The undertone to the trade was much healthier than toward the close of last week. Grass rangers sold readily at stronger figures all around, and there was a broader outlet for cows and heifers than for over a week. In stockers and feeders the demand was active and everything sold readily at prices ruling all of 10 to 15c better than last week for anything at all useful in this line.

Cattle quotations: Prime yearlings, $8.75@9.50; good to choice beeves, $8.00@8.50; fair to good beeves, $7.50@8.00; common to fair beeves, $6.00@7.00; good to choice heifers, $6.00@7.00; good to choice cows, $5.50@6.35; fair to good cows, $5.00@5.50; canners and cutters, $3.75@4.75; veal calves, $7.00@9.00; bulls, stags, etc., $5.00@6.75; good to choice feeders, $7.40@7.75; fair to good feeders, $6.75@7.25; common to fair feeders, $5.75@6.50; stock heifers, $5.25@6.25; stock cows, $4.75@5.75; stock calves, $6.00@8.00; good to choice range beeves, $7.60@8.25; fair to good range beeves, $6.75@7.50; common to fair beeves, $5.75@6.75.

About 10,500 hogs showed up yesterday. The market opened out slow, but became more active later on, with the general trade steady to 5c lower than last Saturday. Bulk of the supply moved at $6.90@7.00, the long string selling at $6.95, and tops brought $7.05, a nickel lower than Saturday's best price.

Sheep and lamb receipts were light, about 3,500 head arriving. While the trade was extremely slow from the packers' standpoint, prices in general on both sheep and lambs ruled anywhere from steady to 10 to 15c higher, the market being more or less uneven. The bulk of such lambs as were on sale moved at $7.90@8.00 on packers' account and around $7.50 on feeding account. The feeder trade showed no material change from the close of last week, and included some feeding yearlings at $6.25.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $7.90@8.15; lambs, fair to good, $7.50@7.90; feeders, fair to good, $7.50@7.90; yearlings, good to choice, $6.75@7.25; yearlings, fair to good, $6.50@6.75; yearlings, feeders, $5.50@6.10; wethers, good to choice, $5.00@5.25; wethers, fair to good, $5.75@6.00; wethers, feeders, $4.40@5.00; ewes, good to choice, $5.25@5.40; ewes, fair to good, $5.00@5.25; ewes, feeders, $4.25@5.00.

BUG-A-BOOS!

By George Lounsbury

Old man McNab across the way to war's alarms has fallen prey; from morn to dewy eve he frets and all his other jobs forgets. He spends his days in fear and fright and fumes and stews throughout the night, and nearly has conviction fits for fear we'll soon be on the fritz. No more he whistles cheerful tunes or hustles round to sell his prunes and beans and ham and cauliflower, he grows more worried hour by hour.

I sit at night in slippers ease, all day I blithely sell my cheese and ladle out the peas and beans, nor wonder what the war news means. For Wilhelm I care not a goat, his armies cannot get my goat; this country will not go to pot such fears as that are simply rot; there's no use feeling sad and blue, the war scare's but a bug-a-boo.

And down the street my neighbor Jones feels trouble coming in his bones; he thinks another grocery store will open soon and maybe more. Disaster's hanging o'er his head, he often wishes he were dead. "More stores," he moans, "will bust us all, our profits now are far too small; this new gazook who's moving in will cut his prices down like sin and I will have to meet his rates on pickled figs and soft boiled dates. I might as well shut up the place and let the county feed my face."

But I am not like neighbor Jones, I have no time for weeps and moans. I am not scared by grocers new, in fact I think we need a few. He may cut prices down it's true, perhaps he'll cut them right in two; but I'll keep right on selling soap and mackerel and other dope at prices that are fair and right, and treat my patrons good and white and I'll do business right along and life will be one glad sweet song. This fear of competition keen is only for the slot machine. Don't let it throw you in a stew, it's nothing but a bug-a-boo.
